the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age has increased by 1.2 billion, from 1.1 billion in 1980 to 2.3 billion in 1999 (United Nations 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of children in the 21st century. The United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) has identified the need to ensure that all children have access to quality education, health care, and a safe environment (UNICEF 1999). The World Bank has also identified the need to ensure that all children have access to quality education, health care, and a safe environment (World Bank 1999).

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–2000) and is projected to increase by a further 1.5 million by 2020 (Office for National Statistics 2001).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health care needs of older people. The Department of Health (2000) has set out a vision for the future of health care for older people, and the National Institute for Clinical Excellence (NICE) (2001) has produced guidance on the management of common conditions in older people. The Department of Health (2000) also states that the health care system should be able to meet the needs of older people in a way that is cost-effective and sustainable.

One of the key challenges for the health care system is to ensure that older people have access to the services they need. This includes access to primary care, secondary care, and social care. The Department of Health (2000) has set out a number of key principles for the health care system, including the need to ensure that older people have access to the services they need.

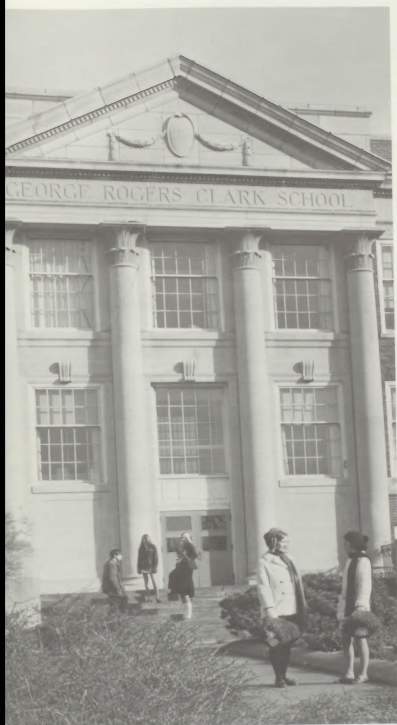

One of the key ways in which the health care system can ensure that older people have access to the services they need is by providing them with the information they need to make decisions about their care. This includes information about the services available, the costs of the services, and the risks and benefits of different treatment options.

Student Life

Tenderness, excitement.

Laughter, tears.

The pride is in being

A part of it all.

Cheerleaders Evie Kampo, Carol Palikan, Sheila Kinnane, and Janine Homco developed skills at Northwood College.

Spending a week at I.U., Girls' Staters' Mary Ruth Hoover and Laura Navta, and I.S.U. Boys' Staters' Stu Hein, Bob Novak, and Bob Sluka learned about governmental proceedings.

Dick Mecklin attended Indiana University to expand his trumpet playing skills.

Gayle Sciacero and Lori Drach acquired knowledge of news coverage at Indiana University during a high school seminar.

During his week's stay at Ball State University, Allan Clark studied approved debate techniques and procedures.

Leadership institutors Greg Tangalos, Pat Miller, Carol Buksar and Roger Schwartz participated in student governmental procedures at Indiana University.

Instituters face work with enthusiastic desire

Summer institutes provided students with the chance to gain more knowledge, skills, and new techniques. More style and creativity were added to the routines of the Cheerleaders and the Pom Pon Corps. Other select Clark students took an active part in band and art programs during the summer. An interest in many subjects drew students to the debate program. Students involved in the Leadership Institute and the Girls' and Boys' State Programs participated in governmental proceedings and increased their leadership qualities. With the intention of learning more about the creation of a fine year-book and school newspaper, four Clark students traveled to universities in search of such knowledge. The National Science Foundation Program allowed students to learn more about the field, what it involves, and how it can be applied in the world today and in the world tomorrow. Not only did all of these students gain knowledge in their respective fields, but they also obtained an idea of what college life is like. Their summer was one of knowledge supplemented by pleasure, while preparing to put their information into use.

Powder Horn editors, Peggy Golding and Nancy Samek, learned layout and copy techniques at Indiana University.

Deep concentration, a learned part of artistic development is reflected by D'Ann Yoder after classes at I.U.'s Art Institute.

Pom-pon girls, Debbie Novotny, Barb Korem, Marilyn Solkey, and Gayle Cuculic attended Vincennes University, while Nancy Samek and Peggy Golding attended Ball State in order to obtain new ideas from their respective summer institutes.

National Science Foundation scholars Jim Gaitens, Dan Kaplan and Bob Sluka spent their summers at such universities as Western Michigan, New Mexico, and Indiana furthering their knowledge of science by using the school's facilities.

Lucious looking Bob Novak portrays Twinkletoes while Jiminy Cricket, Mike Stombaugh, looks for Gladiators.

The elegance of the Homecoming dance is reflected as the attendants and their escorts take the center floor after making their walk down the aisle.

Pioneer victory over Gavit fulfills the 1970 Homecoming expectations

"The Wonderful World of Walt Disney" was reflected throughout the Booster Club display.

The 1970 George Rogers Clark Homecoming was just another game on a typical football day: cold, windy and excessively damp. The exception was that for many weeks students labored at the construction of floats, posters, and banners that symbolized one thought: beat the Gladiators! Additional support for the team was displayed on each day of Homecoming Week. To boost the winning spirit, students participated in Red, White, and Blue Day, Frontier Day, Button and Bows Day, Hat Day, and on Friday of the week, Blue and White Day. To add to the enjoyment of the big game itself, the Band, Pom Pon Corps, and Twirlers worked for weeks on halftime routines. The hours of preparation finally paid off, for Clark slipped past Gavit, 14-13.

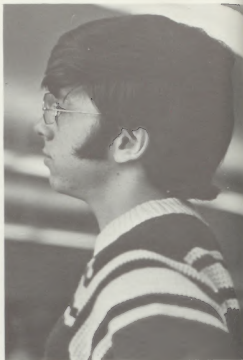

Band and Flag Corps members set the scene for Homecoming before the victorious game.

"Jimmy" Roger Schwartz narrates the Senior Skit at the Homecoming assembly.

A scene which prevailed at most Clark dances was that of kids having fun.

Dan Kaplan exemplifies the longer hair and sideburns dominant in the male gender.

Clark sees medley of fashions

A change was experienced as Clarkites followed a new dress code.

Dances often served as a place to relax and listen to hard rock music.

Kathy Chariton does the "funky chicken" to the tune of "Fortunate Son."

with the release of the dress code

With the release of the dress code, Clark saw a wide variety of fashions. Many girls chose the added warmth and comfort of slacks and pant suits, while others continued to wear the traditional school dress of skirts, sweaters, dresses, and jumpers. Clarkites continued to follow the current trends in fashions as midis followed maxis into Clark halls. Longer hair and sideburns were prevalent among the males. As desert boots, Levis, and vests became increasingly popular, members from both sexes donned bell bottoms, and a few garnished their jeans with peace symbol patches. Some brave Clarkites tried beards, mustaches, and even the Afro look in hair styles.

Classes and organizations sponsored dances as a source of entertainment for Clarkites. Students were brought into full swing by the popular music of selected bands.

Clarkites "tighten up" to the music of the Clearlight.

Three spend summer months in Europe

A summer spent in the city of Krefeld, Germany on the lower Rhine was part of the IU Honors Program Abroad in which Karen Jefchak and Doug Forbes participated. Thirty students from the state spent nine weeks in Germany attending classes designed to help increase their fluency in the language and going on field trips in the surrounding areas. Both Karen and Doug lived in homes of German families speaking only in German. Karen said, "My adopted brother is probably the only boy in Europe with a Clark '71 football jersey." Also a participant of a foreign language exchange program Nancy Usselman toured Italy, Switzerland, France, and Spain.

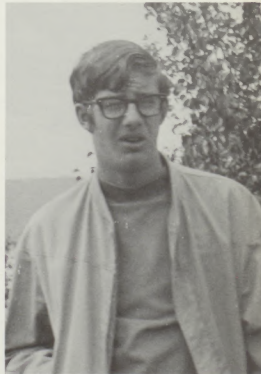

Die Pfalz, a medieval toll booth in the Rhine River, was viewed by Karen and Doug during their summer studies.

Karen Jefchak and her German family, Ulrike and Ulrich Ziemer, stand on the tower of the Burg Linn castle as they overlook the city of Krefeld.

With the Rur See in the background, Doug Forbes takes in the view from a hilltop in the Eifel Mountain Range.

A view of the Capital, as seen by Clarkites, proved to be a moving experience.

A first for many Clarkites, the jet ride proved to be an exciting experience for all.

Air excursion made to Washington

An authentic bullfight in Spain was one of the many events experienced by Nancy Ussleman as a foreign exchange student.

The Washington-New York Trip was a unique experience this year, for it was the first time the traveling students arrived at their objective airborne. After arriving at the nation's capital, the students from Clark and Tech High Schools spent over ten hours sightseeing and touring. Next on the itinerary was an all day tour of New York, which included sights as the United Nations Building and Chinatown. Altogether, the journey was pleasurable and enlightening.

Clark's tourists posed for a parting shot as they prepared to take off for Washington, D.C.

Burns describes the situation as police surround the building to catch the spies.

After a long trip, the Sultan and his wife socialize during a visit to the American Embassy.

The talents of the Junior Class were brought to light in the comedy "Don't Drink the Water", which was also the first directing effort by Mr. Steven Shepard at Clark.

The lights dimmed to find American tourists taking refuge in the United States embassy of a small country behind the Iron Curtain, after having been pursued by Communist police as spies. Mr. and Mrs. Hollander demanded to be returned to the United States immediately, but diplomatic matters moved slowly in the hands of the Ambassador's bumbling son, Axel. While Axel was desperately plotting a means of escape for the family, he encountered Susan, the Hollander's daughter, and romance blossomed. After many tribulations Axel thought of a workable plan, but as the curtain closed Susan decided that she would rather remain at the embassy with Axel permanently.

During an interrogation, Krojack puts Magee on the spot as he defends the Hollanders.

The romance that developed between Susan and Magee was furthered by a kiss.

Forensic League member Rita Dabertin mysteriously foretells future adventures.

Doing her part to help the Health Careers club, Marie Saldana gives a sales talk about her homemade flowers at the Food Fair.

Junior Dance highlights Food Fair

Although the P.T.A. Food Fair was delayed until late January, the annual fun fest lost none of its zest and liveliness. Among the usual features of the fair were the Fish Pond, Game Room amusements, the unbelievable Fortune Tellers, helium-filled balloons, and the A. V. O. Television Booth. Fair-goers refreshed themselves at the Desert Bar with hot dogs and soft drinks and later munched with determination on cotton candy cones. Highlighting the Food Fair was the Junior Class Dance, which featured the Kritters, a popular rock group.

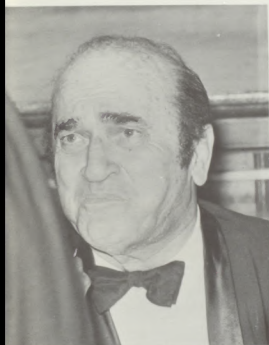

Student Council members Bruce Jendreas, Jim Halik, and Pat Miller combine work and amusement as funds are raised for future assemblies.

Assemblies provide entertainment and a switch from routine

Interesting, informative and enjoyable assemblies were presented through the efforts of the Student Council. To start off the year, the "Singing Hoosiers" filled everyone with the excitement of their music. Other assemblies such as Mr. Bumiller's travelog on Greece and Dr. Ross's powers of hypnotism were presented. By chance, Clark was able to hear the world-renowned Rubinoff and his violin.

With the idea of lending enthusiasm to the up-coming drive, the Student Council gave their traditional Magazine Drive assembly. A special assembly on drugs was presented to the student body in which a former drug addict told of his personal experiences.

David Rubinoff, internationally famous violinist, performed at a Clark assembly to introduce the art of mastering the violin.

Former Clarkite Craig Spaulding solos for the Singing Hoosiers assembly.

David Ledcke, a Michigan state prisoner, tells Clarkites of his experiences with drugs at an open assembly.

Mrs. Clemens was often horrified by her son's candid remarks.

A student and faculty member discussed David's odd habits of cleanliness.

As was often the case, an English assignment turned into a heated discussion among the pupils.

All-School Play, David and Lisa, overcomes difficulties with success

Lisa especially enjoyed learning when taught by her trusted friend, John.

The All-School Play, David and Lisa, directed by Mr. Steven Shepard, climaxed five weeks of effort by cast and crew. Although they encountered many problems such as stolen programs, a cut fire curtain, and small restless audiences, the play was successfully presented March 18 and 19.

The story told of two mentally disturbed teenagers—Lisa, a schizophrenic who talked in rhymes, and David, a paranoid afraid to be touched. The play began with David being taken to the institute by his over-protective mother. He soon met Lisa and a strong attraction developed between the two. Lisa, who had trusted David, and David, who had trusted no one, began to trust Lisa. After an incident in the park when David rescued Lisa from two attackers, each took a step towards overcoming his problem as they walked back to the institute, confidently, hand in hand.

With eyes closed for moral support, David overcame his fear and took Lisa's hand.

As head of the school, Dr. Alan Swinford sought to help students overcome their individual problems of life.

Mr. Erickson's homeroom lost to Miss Reed's homeroom in the intramural volleyball finals.

Mudd's team takes intramural B-Ball

Student Council sponsored intramurals started off the year with the basketball tournament. After many close games, Mudd's team took first place. All-stars were selected and awarded trophies before the annual East-West game, in which the players from the West were victorious.

Next on the agenda was ping-pong. The tournament and playoffs were held in the lunchroom as Dave Turner and Eileen Petyo became the final contenders, with Dave Turner as winner.

The next six weeks involved Tuesdays after school at Towne House Lanes, as guys and gals alike strove to get that high game trophy. Diane Kaminsky and Mike Price were the winners.

Along with spring flowers came volleyball season. Homeroom against homeroom, the hot sweltering gym set the scene for vigorous ball playing. Miss Reed's homeroom took top honors, and plans are being made for a game between the homeroom winner from Whiting High School.

'New Sights and Sounds Edition 71' uses 'Hello Dolly' as finale number

The '71 edition of the Sights and Sounds of the '70's was presented May 27 and 28 in the G.R.C. auditorium. Members of the Girls' Ensemble and Pom Pon Corps, with the music of the Stage Orchestra, provided an evening of dance and song to today's popular music and musicals.

The program included such songs as "The Stripper," "Pink Panther," "Sunny," and selections from "Oliver." "Hello Dolly" served as the finale.

To an outsider, the show was very well done, and rendered a delightful evening, but to members it was the end product of many weeks of time, effort, and practice.

Carmel Conley and Diane Jakubczyk swing to the beat of "The Stripper."

"Do You Know the Way to San Jose?" was one of the many songs performed.

A selection from "Oliver" was presented by Orchestra, Poms, and Girls' Ensemble members.

Sherwood Club, K of C Hall setting of 'Quiet Night of Quiet Stars'

"Quiet Night of Quiet Stars" was chosen as the theme for the 1971 Junior-Senior Prom. An evening of enchantment awaited Prom couples at the Sherwood Club beginning at 8 o'clock. A setting of twinkling, silver stars and soft music provided those who attended with a quiet, romantic evening.

Couples, sponsors, and chaperones then proceeded to the Knights of Columbus Hall in East Chicago for the After-Prom Party. Entertainment by Courage and soft lights greeted them and added another magic moment to an evening filled with memories.

Junior Class Sponsors Miss Reed and Mr. Talabay reflect the satisfaction of a job well accomplished and presented.

Gwen Hmurovich and Mike Stombaugh beam as a funny thought comes to mind.

Seniors as co-valedictorians

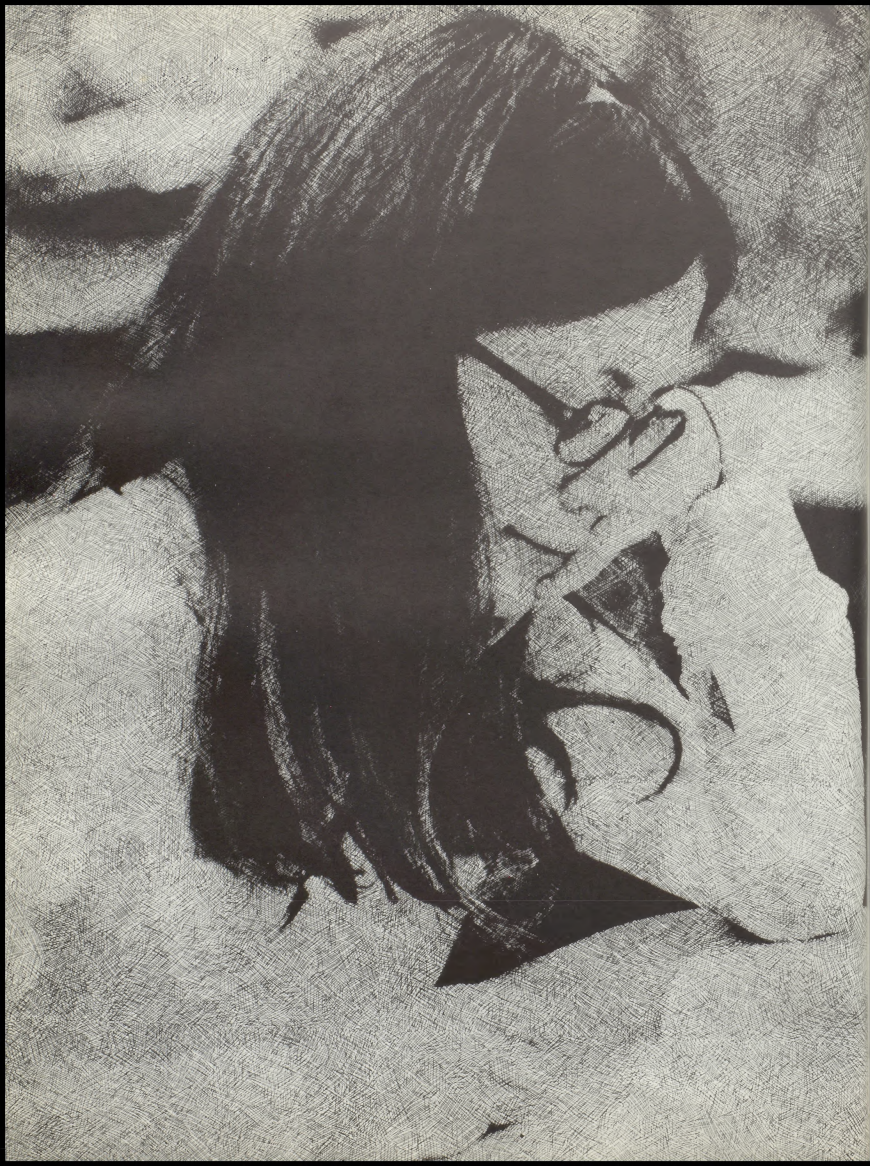

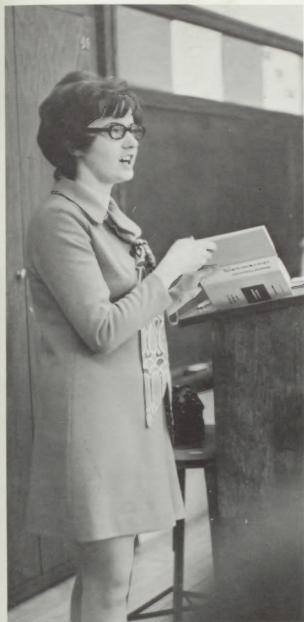

The George Rogers Clark Class of 1971 graduated on Wednesday, June 9, at the Hammond Tech Auditorium. The evening commencement exercise signified the official completion of high school for the 234 Senior students. Laura Navta and Nancy Samek presided as co-valedictorians after obtaining a 3.895 grade average.

Actually, the final graduation evening was preceded by a week of final examinations, commencement rehearsals, a class photograph, and a Sunday afternoon Baccalaureate followed by a tea, at which parents and students mingled and discussed future plans as well as memories of the past years at Clark.

The mortarboard tassel of each student will serve as a nostalgic reminder of the 1971 Commencement.

Senior independent study initiated with success

New literary experiences and development of theme writing skills became the foundation of English studies for upperclassmen.

Juniors, involved in the study of American authors, gained greater understanding of the symbolism in such works as Moby Dick, The Scarlet Letter, and Walden through group discussions. Literary terms were brought to life through repeated use.

Senior English classes searched for meaning in modernistic books such as 1984 and Brave New World, while delving into old English ideas through studies of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales and Shakespeare's Hamlet.

Formation of an independent study group for select Seniors saw creativeness expressed through individual projects, discussions, and the production of a motion picture.

The process of making an original bulletin board is demonstrated by Kathy Charlton.

Poetry, short stories, novels, and grammar were the basic ingredients covered by English classes as a whole, while the individual's creativity came to the fore as students tried their hand at themes, essays, and speeches.

Freshmen experienced the chivalry of Ivanhoe, the misery of Les Miserables, and the horrors of Hiroshima mingled with down-to-earth discussions of sentence and paragraph structure.

Sophomores witnessed the assassination of Julius Caesar, the guillotining of thousands in A Tale of Two Cities, and the tragic love of Romeo and Juliet, while gaining poise and self confidence through speech making. Which tense to use, what word is right, and how to put it all together, were some of the problems faced by languages students.

With today's new awareness of man and his relation to the surrounding world, the understanding of different cultures is deemed important in an education.

In order to understand the basic requirements of the language, courses were supplemented by the use of filmstrips, records, and the language lab facilities.

Advanced classes wrote themes, read books, and carried on discussions using their chosen language, while vocabulary and pronunciation were mastered by beginning classes.

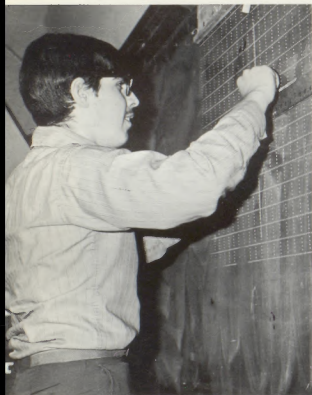

Paper, pencil, protractor, and an eraser are the tools most used by these math students.

Math stresses abilities to apply sound reasoning

The math department offered a variety of courses that sought to be beneficial to everyone. General math covered a little bit of everything while college prep mathematics became much more specialized. In all classes the ability to apply sound and accurate reasoning was emphasized strongly.

Freshman algebra classes delved into the mysteries of equations, positive and negative numbers, and axioms of equality. After these concepts were mastered, math students moved to Sophomore geometry which stressed logical reasoning in terms of theorems, postulates, and proofs.

scientific understanding

As college enrollments swell, the demand for advanced training in high school science and math courses increases. To fulfill these demands, George Rogers Clark High School offers instruction in modern math analysis, advanced algebra, physics, and chemistry. College-bound students are thus given a broader base of knowledge for education at the university level.

For example, the math analysis and advanced algebra courses prepare students for college calculus and trigonometry, as physics and chemistry courses enable the student to cope with college-level science programs. As an extra-curricular instructional program, Explorer Post 290 offers similar courses for the interested student.

The planet earth is in a state of continuous change. As its ancient mysteries are being solved, new queries arise. It is for the pursuit of understanding of both contemporary and prehistoric facts and secrets of the earth that students study earth science, biology, and general science.

Students taking these courses study in depth the bases of natural phenomena, biological occurrences, and the fascinating world of microorganisms. Also studied are the universal but diverse fields ranging from meteorology, geology, entomology, astronomy, and oceanography to the contemporary problems effected by air and water pollution and their respective resolutions.

Social Sciences enlighten students about man and his world

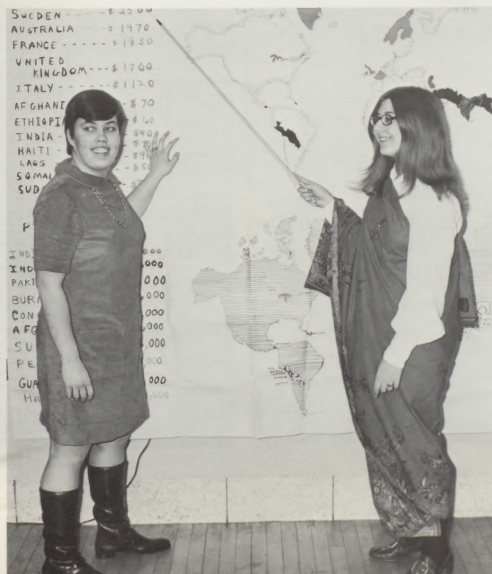

Under the direction of Mr. Arthur Erickson, the Clark Social Sciences Department approached the task of instructing students about man and his world via courses in psychology, sociology, government, and economics. Not only did the students learn the functions and duties of federal, local, and state governments, but became aware also of the voting right and procedure as it relates to the individual citizen. It is hoped that this instruction will make the student a more responsible and enlightened citizen.

In the psychology and sociology classes, students were shown the problems and hardships confronted by modern man and his attempts to resolve the problems. Also pursued was a study of man's inner being.

Historians wander through ages, eras

An important part of man's life today is his historical heritage, for a study of the past is often useful in understanding the present and future. For this reason, world, contemporary, and United States history are offered at Clark.

World History involves the study of man's past from the beginning of recorded history to the most recent epoch. World History students travel through time, experiencing the exploits of Hannibal, reliving the Crusades, and observing the strategy of the Axis powers.

American and Contemporary History deal with events in the history of the U.S. and happenings and problems of the modern world.

Through studying the globe, World History students learned of places far and near.

Denise Furman utilizes the popular dictaphone to supplement her business knowledge.

The rising costs of college and the increasing job opportunities open to graduates cause a great many students to take advantage of the business courses offered at Clark.

As usual, shorthand and typing classes were in demand as they taught basic business skills. To supplement the basic knowledge, students had a choice of ten other courses, such as clerical practice, data processing, and bookkeeping.

The keen competition in the business world makes it necessary for students to take such courses to get an edge on the person without this extra knowledge, and to gain insights into prospective jobs.

Band and Choir studies popular, standard music

Music played an important role in the lives of some students and a minor role in others', but it was evident that many enjoyed this active form of self-expression.

In the choral field, perfection of vocal techniques was emphasized while an effort was made to cover music from all eras, such as the Romantic, Baroque, and Contemporary periods. With Orchestra meeting only two days per week, many extra rehearsals were required to perfect music for performances. Stress was placed on stage and popular music although small groups played some classical music. After the pressures of football season when intricate routines were performed, band concentrated on standard music. Techniques learned were displayed at two concerts.

Individual ability escapes in art class

As an escape from the pressures of trying classes and competition, art classes became workshops for creative expression and self-satisfaction.

First year classes discovered the many facets of art through the application of its numerous tools. Free hand and charcoal sketches, wire and paper forms, and paintings contributed to the development of a sense of keen observation.

Increased application of individual skills and interests directed advanced art students. Inner tensions were released through an appreciation for art, its forms, and its possibilities. The end product resulted in an even greater accomplishment, pride.

Fundamentals aid physical balance

Freshman and Sophomore gym classes, meeting two or three times a week, concentrated on techniques to keep the body in good physical condition.

Girls' activities started with soccer, and included volleyball, square-dancing, tumbling, basketball, and physical fitness tests.

Boys' gym classes dealt with touch football, soccer, wrestling, basketball, gymnastics, fitness tests, track and field activities and softball, as well as a few carry over sports when time permitted. Fundamentals were taught for each sport so every boy would have the same knowledge. All-stars, individual champs and tournaments were all part of the program.

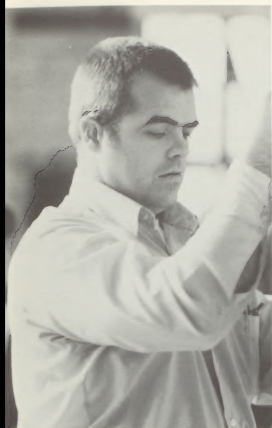

Special education classes included such subjects as math, spelling, and science. These classes included both individual and group efforts to widen knowledge.

Ambitious seamstresses advanced from pincushions and aprons to formal gowns. Foods students progressed from basic desserts until they became French chefs creating gourmet delights, while the practicalities of proper table settings and canning vegetables were dealt with also.

After one basic assignment, those enrolled in Shop classes were allowed to make something of their own choice. Among the favorite projects were ashtrays, bowls, lamps, and speaker boxes.

Meeting bi-monthly with homeroom representatives, the Council planned money-raising activities to maintain the Council treasury. Also, procedures on various matters of school business were discussed and resulted, in one case, in the amending of the school constitution. Among the activities planned by the George Rogers Clark Student Council were various assemblies, dances, and conduction of Council elections.

Concert Choir performs on WJOB; makes an appearance on Channel 11

Concert Choir members turn on their little girl charm as they learn about numbers.

The busy life of the vocal music participant was first put into full gear at the Fall Choral Concert. After the traditional serious section was performed by select groups, all forces united to present the popular Panorama of Popular Music.

The Christmas season was a very busy one, especially for advanced groups. The annual Holiday Concert was presented with the aid of both band and orchestra. Concert Choir spread Christmas greetings over mass media by a radio program on WJOB. Choir also performed at various local churches in sacred Christmas concerts. The Girls' Ensemble, a very active group, performed for those less fortunate men at Great Lakes Naval Hospital who could not be home for the holidays. This group also made an overnight trip to southern Indiana where they performed in Dana and then moved on to Indianapolis to observe techniques used in high schools there.

The school year wound up with a Concert Choir performance on Channel 11's Sunday Evening Club and the Spring Concert.

Orchestra partakes in Sights and Sounds '71

The Clark Orchestra exhibited its talents through various concerts during the year. This talented group began its hard work immediately after the "marching season" ended. Under the guidance of Mr. David Matusiak, two days a week were spent improving various techniques employed in music.

During the year, the Orchestra performed with the Band as well as the Choral Department in the Christmas Concert. The annual Winter Concert was held in January, while April hosted the Spring Concert. Much effort was spent on the Sights and Sounds '71 Edition held in late May.

Rising to play "Go You Pioneers" pep band members add to a pep assembly.

A first-place win in the Fourth of July parade was the first of many endeavors taken up by bandmen. The vigor of football halftimes, basketball games, and pep assemblies was due to the efforts of the performers.

Under the direction of Mr. James Dycus, three concerts were given throughout the year in order to raise money for new uniforms needed for the expanding membership. Another money-making project was REX, an all purpose liquid soap. Enough money was raised for 15 new uniforms and plumes for the entire band.

Among the five parades in which the band members participated, the Fourth of July parade was the most outstanding. A Christmas float was made for the Hammond Christmas parade which placed third.

Tradition broken; new rule initiated

After attending Northwood Institute and attaining membership in the American Cheerleader's Association, varsity cheerleaders Janine Homco, Evie Kampo, Sheila Kinnane and Carol Palikan put their knowledge to work. Although leading cheers at games was a major part of their jobs, they also decorated lockers, planned assemblies, and raised money for new outfits.

This year a new rule was initiated in which Freshman and Sophomore girls were able to try out for B-squad, and Sophomore and Junior girls varsity cheerleading. The old tradition of picking Junior girls for B-squad, who automatically became varsity cheerleaders was broken.

This year's B-squaders Reggie Dvorscak, Linda Shimala, Celeste Surma, and Cathy Troksa were found at Saturday morning B-squad football games, and at 6:30 basketball games.

The Homesteaders were lead by Sherry Blastick, Crystal Conley, Dolores Gaitens and Sue Wojtena.

With insufficient space for practicing, Poms, under the leadership of Patti Molson, and Twirlers, under the leadership of Carol Walters, were found practicing in the lower hall during fifth hour, after school, and sometimes even at night. Their effort were revealed throughout the year during various parades, football and basketball games, the Latin Club Talent show, and finally the Sounds of the 70's.

Flag Corps, under the leadership of Nancy Samek, marched during the year and debuted in the talent show, held in March.

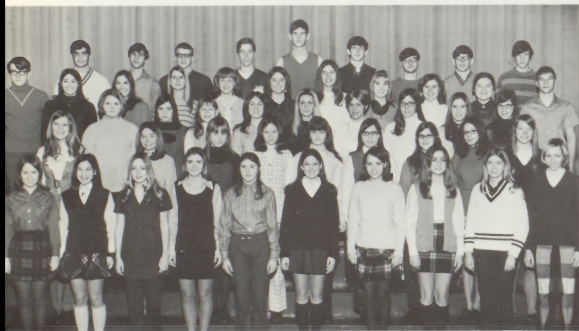

Head twirler Carol Walters shows the poise and smile which helped make half times enjoyable for everyone.

start new procedures at meetings

Booster Club Meetings, held on the fourth Thursday of each month, were supervised by the first-year sponsor Mr. Thwing, assistant librarian.

To prevent disorder among the large group of 480 members, meetings this year were conducted for the first time by Roberts Rules of Order. In this procedure students were not permitted to speak unless given the right to do so by this year's president, Rose Murzyn.

The new parliamentarian officers were added to the cabinet during the 1970-71 school year. Their responsibilities dealt with any questions regarding parliamentary procedures during the meeting.

A constitutional committee was appointed during the month of March to begin work on the constitution. The committee worked on the constitution and by-laws until the end of the year. The results will be presented and initiated at the first meeting next year.

1971 Powder Horn's new

A big change occurring in the production of the Powder Horn was the switch to a summer delivery. A wider range of activities were covered for theme development with the first deadline being in April. The second and final deadline in June allowed for the coverage of all spring sports, graduation, and the Junior Prom.

Different techniques utilized to make the yearbook more interesting were rainbow color, spot color, and etchtone screening.

"Don't be a slowpoke" was the sales pitch used during the subscription drive, which totaled approximately 800 books.

alternate control of 1971 paper

Pioneer News, under the guidance of Mr. Muir, tried a new system this year. The experimental project dealt with having alternating editors, one each semester. Lori Drach and Karen Jefchak served as the alternating editors. Purpose of this project was to get more ideas and more students involved in the school paper as an extra activity.

In April nineteen students attended the Northern Indiana Journalism Seminar on the Valparaiso University campus. The purpose of NIJS is to give students opportunity to view and discuss up-to-date ideas in high school newspaper trends and later use them for their benefit.

Latin and German Clubs raise money

A stationery sale, bake-sale, and The Talent Show raised money for the Latin Club. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Wilcox, used these funds for the Honor's Program, the Hayward Memorial Scholarship Fund and the Stage Fund. Through some of these funds, students were sent to Italy and Greece. The Latin Club Banquet was decorated to the theme of "Neptune's Palace."

Members of the German Club participated in such fund-raising projects as a bake-sale, and the Food Fair at which they had a "jail." A major part of these funds were contributed to the Honor's Program. The members, along with their club sponsor Mrs. Kostopoulos, enjoyed a meal in a German restaurant, a trip to Germantown, and the club banquet.

Among these was a Christmas party, a trip to see "Man of la Mancha", and a banquet for the club in the spring. A bake-sale, dues, and the selling of de cou pages at the Food Fair raised money to help send students to France through the Honor's Program.

Receiving first place for their homecoming float was an achievement of the Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Encinosa and Miss Mazur. A Christmas party and an outing to see "Man of la Mancha" were two of the fun-filled activities for the members. A bake-sale and dues provided funds for the honor's program and for the Haywood Memorial Fund.

Spanish Club's float "Let's Drive 'Em Goofy" won a first place ribbon.

Projects; basis for future life studies

Mr. Glenn Mauger headed the Clark Science Projects Club this year. As sponsor, he aided and advised members as they researched and developed individual scientific projects.

The Biology Club was sponsored by Mr. Larry Liddle. Under his guidance, the members were able to probe the secrets of animal and plant biology through experimentation and individual biological study.

For the first year, the Future Teachers Club met on an activity day basis. The club consisted of twelve girls who plan careers in teaching. The girls were instructed in modern teaching methods by Miss McCampbell, club sponsor, and were able to apply their knowledge in the form of tutoring elementary students.

The 35 members of Red Cross, led by Miss Ide, sponsored many projects, the biggest being this year's fund raising movie, "Guns in the Heather." With these funds the club was able to benefit needy children at home and abroad. The overseas school chest and a picnic for orphan children were among such projects.

Health Careers, sponsored by Mrs. Eynon, toured various hospitals and the Trade Winds building. Members also took gifts and sang carols at St. Ann's Home at Christmas. Guest speakers, such as a dental hygienist and a representative from a mental health clinic, have appeared at Clark to talk at meetings. The Club has also sponsored "Ship Hope" and the March of Dimes March-A-Thon, held in May.

Rules, concentration, basic to chess

During every activity period, the cafeteria is filled with the ponderous silence of concentration as Chess Club members struggle with their pieces. Beginners learn the fundamentals from the club's sponsor, Mr. Kostopoulos, and by the end of the first day are ready for their first game. The more experienced members take up their boards and a favorite opponent then lose themselves and their problems in intense concentration. There just never seems to be enough time in one hour to make that last clinching move to finally win a game.

Lack of funds curtails many Stage Crew services

Stage Crew, directed by Mr. Matusiak, offered its services in the production of plays, concerts, and assemblies throughout the year.

Improvements, including new flats, a communication system, and a cyclorama helped to improve the present operation of stage produc-

With a membership of well over 150 students, the Conservation Club began its first year of existence. The Conservation Club was formed by Mr. Roman and Mr. Majcher, who together sponsored the club and its quarter-monthly meetings.

Among the plans of the club are the development of the south end of Wolf Lake and construction of an education area, similar to the Nature Center at Sandridge. During the course of the year, club officers and officials discussed their plans on local television and met with Mayor Klen to discuss city aid and cooperation in the development of Wolf Lake. The club also met with the Lake County Conservation Club and the Outdoor Education Association of Indiana, Inc., to discuss plans for possible affiliation.

Art Club bake sale profits go toward materials for 25-minute film

Weaving intricate designs and shapes was an interest of Diane Edgcomb.

The Freshman-Sophomore Art Club worked, through a planned program, with clay and copper tooling designs, to make mobiles and plastic coated flowers, while the Junior-Senior Art Club worked on an individual workshop basis. The advanced club made pastel and finger paintings, clay models, Christmas ornaments.

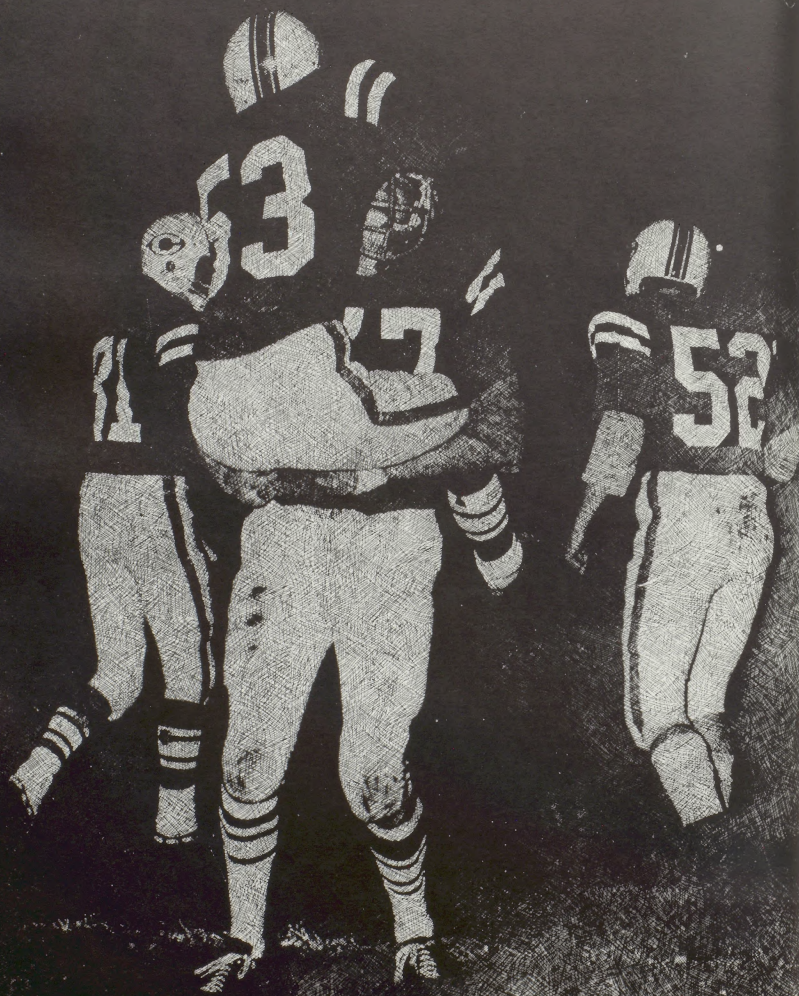

Both clubs joined forces and baked goods to raise money for a film made by the art classes. The film, approximately 25 minutes long, involved abstract shapes and colors accompanied by modern jazz music. Students used rice, toothpaste, paper, and glue to obtain various transparencies for a three dimensional effect.

With fine teammate blocking, Gerry Duracz battles his way to a crucial first down.

Because of a lengthy teachers' strike, which unfortunately extended into the Clark football season, the Pioneers were able to play only seven of a scheduled nine games. The first game, against the Munster Mustangs, was cancelled. The following game, scheduled for September 11 against Morton, was a forfeit win for the Governors. When the Pioneers were finally prepared to do battle, they were unable to score against Bishop Noll and E.C. Washington, losing by scores of 13-0 and 20-0, respectively.

The Clark grid team gelled at last and won its next three encounters against Gavit, Hammond High, and Tech by one-point margins. The season was capped with a smashing 58-0 triumph over the Whiting Oilers.

Bud Busch, Mike Furto, Stu Hein, Don King, and Rich Modrzejewski were named to the Lake Shore All-Conference Team for their fine individual play. Honorable mention awards went to Dave Pasyk and Bob Strabavy. Added mention also goes to Dave Turner, offensive sparkplug for the team, who had an 8.5 yards per carry average.

Settlers, Homesteaders boost season records with early wins

The strike had little effect upon the Junior Varsity and Frosh squads, as they both initiated their seasons by recording wins against their first two opponents. The Settler record was then blemished by defeats to Gavitt and Hammond High by less than a touchdown. The Junior Varsity posted a 4-2 season by thrashing Tech and E.C. Roosevelt by scores of 26-0 and 32-8, respectively.

The Homesteaders registered an early win over Bishop Noll, but later fell to Gavitt and Hammond High. The Frosh then came back to beat Tech, 28-7, followed by a 18-14 loss to E.C. Roosevelt. The newcomers concluded the season with a resounding 18-0 victory over arch-rival Whiting, enabling them to finish above the .500 mark.

Harriers capture third in Conference

This year's Harriers posted an impressive 13-9 record, relying mainly on the running of returning lettermen Paul Roznawski, Don Krcmaric, Dave Mroz, John Robertson, and Al Angel. The highlights of the season were a third place finish in the Conference Meet and a fourth in the City Meet. In the sectionals, Junior Dave Mroz placed tenth out of two-hundred competitors, leading the Harriers to a ninth place team finish.

Next year, Coach Shields should expect an experienced squad as the members of this year's B-squad posted a 13-4 season.

At the sound of the gun, Clark's Harriers begin another grueling race at Forsythe Park.

Racketmen end with .500 season

As Dave Herakovich tries to earn another point, Mike Pavlik prepares for the return volley.

With only two lettermen on the squad, Clark's tennis team was centered on youth. They started off the season by being edged by Morton. They came back to win the next two matches over Tech and E.C. Washington, 4-1 and 3-2, respectively. In their next match, the racketeers never got started as Hammond High blanked them 5-0. The racketmen beat E.C. Roosevelt before ending the season at 3-3 by losing to Gavit.

Having only three seniors on the team, Dan Kaplan, Tracy Levin, and Mark Kalwinski, many underclassmen gained playing experience. The first doubles team, Mike Pavlik and Dave Herakovich, will be returning next year. Also returning will be John Matura, Tom Kaminsky, and Tom Kruczek. The return of these players gives Coach Hein prospects of a better season.

Coach Larry Liddle, the man praised for building Clark into a basketball threat, tells his team to stall for one shot.

The defending Hammond Sectional Champs started the season with a 69-66 victory over Lake Central, Dick Wilson adding 31 points. The next five games proved disastrous as the Pioneers lost to E.C. Roosevelt, Valparaiso, and E.C. Washington. The Roundballers broke out of their slump via a seven game winning streak climaxed by a Holiday Tourney win over Bishop Noll, 62-58. Last-second baskets by John Nagy and Bob Strabavy helped the Pioneers slip past Hobart and Hammond High, respectively.

Matched against Gavitt in the first game of the Sectionals, the Pioneers escaped with a three point victory. Balanced scoring caused the downfall of Munster as five players reached double figures. Against Highland, Dick Wilson popped in 32 points and Bud Busch added 21, as Clark seized its second straight Sectional victory. As was the case last year, the Roundballers fell to eventual state champs, E.C. Washington in a close game, 62-51.

Settlers finish 11-10; Frosh lose 6 games by 2

The towering frame of Ed Marcisz looms as an intimidating figure while he ties an opponent for a jump ball.

Leading the way on a fast break, Dave Grigson sinks an easy lay-up.

This year's Settler squad finished its season with an 11-10 record. One of the highlights was a four game winning streak, during which it defeated Highland, Whiting, Morton, and Gary Andean. Several members of the J.V. Squad played well enough to earn a shot at a position on the Varsity Team. Among these Roundballers were Jim Mottet, Del Radloff, and Joe Shimala. With the added height of Radloff, Shimala, and Marcisz, Clark's next Varsity Team will have the height necessary to control the boards.

Clark's Freshman Team suffered a tough season as they fell to fourteen opponents while defeating four, Whiting three times and Hammond High. Although the record looks disappointing, it does not tell the entire story.

Six of the 14 losses were by two points or less. The Homesteaders did have one highlight in the season, which was a second place finish in the Freshman Tournament.

Clark's Grapplers wrestled their way to a 4-6-1 season led by captain Don Krcmaric, who posted an 8-2-1 record. Two main hopes for next year's team will be sophomores Jerry Deluna and Tom Kozlowski. Jerry captured an impressive second place and Tom a fourth place in Conference, while both finished fourth in the sectionals.

The 1971 Pioneer Track Team was hampered by injuries to many members of the squad. Claude Holifield, Paul Roznawski, Bob Strabavy, Dave Mroz, and Jim Mottet were key individuals who were plagued with various ailments throughout the season. Due to this fact, the thinclads posted a disappointing 1-4 record. One outstanding prospect to keep an eye on is Marco Kraft who tied the Frosh-Soph City Meet record in the 100-yard dash with a 10.3 and the 220-yard dash with a time of 23.3 seconds. Losing only six Seniors, next year's squad should prove to be more successful.

This year's baseball team started off the season in fine fashion by winning five of their first seven games. The rest of the season proved disastrous, however, as they lost nine of the next 13 games giving them a 9-11 overall record. The offense was led by Sophomore Del Radloff with a .385 batting average and 8 runs batted in, and Rich Modrzejewski, who hit .333 with four home runs and 13 runs batted in. Leading the pitching staff was Junior Bob Klepura, who posted a 4-2 record. Leaving the squad due to graduation are Bud Busch, Rich Modrzejewski, and Tom Ruman.

Many goals by opponents due to penalty shots hampered the Soccer team and caused them to fall to a 2-6 season. The highlight of the season was back to back defeats of Tech and Hammond High by identical 2-1 scores. At the end of the campaign, a city tournament was held. The first matchup was between Clark and Hammond High. Led by Frank Saksa with two goals and Jim Halik adding another, the Wildcats were stopped 3-1. In the Championship game, the team bowed to Morton by a score of 2-0 gaining a second place standing.

With a young, inexperienced team, this year's golf squad stroked their way to a disappointing 3-15 season. The three victories were over the East Chicago teams. Washington was the first victim of the season for the linksters who won 181-196, while Roosevelt dropped two by scores of 193-196 and 140-168. Due to an injury, the team was disqualified in the Sectionals. Without losing any members, Coach Oral Watkin's squad should be stronger next year, due to the experience gained this year.

C-Club was led by President Bob Strabavy and assisted by Vice-President Don King, Sargent-at-arms Tim Carpenter, and Secretary-treasurer Dave Turner. During the year, the club purchased a portable popcorn machine, which was used after school and for all games. The annual C-Club Dance, with Barb Mottet being crowned Sweetheart, helped pay for the C-Club Banquet.

individual efforts during high school

As Freshmen, the class dance, "Shades of Green," taught many unique individuals to work together as one body. This aided the Frosh and prepared them for the hard labor they put in on their Homecoming float, "Cage Those Wildcats."

The Sophomore year was highlighted by their class dance, "It's About Time," Homecoming entry, "Bam Those Tigers," and class rings.

The third year of high school found the Juniors recipient of a second place ribbon for their float, "Blast Dem Cats." Along with a class dance, the Juniors presented, "Up the Down Staircase," to earn money for their Prom.

The Senior year brought with it a special effort to be the best because so many things would be the last. The Homecoming Court consisted of Queen Chris Etter, attended by Peggy Golding and Carol Palikan. Although Seniors captured first place in the yell contest, their float entry, "We're Too Sweet To Beat," received a second. "Go Steady Week," was climaxed by the Senior Class Dance, "We've Only Just Begun." The highlight of the evening was the announcement of the Ideal Seniors. Baccalaureate ceremonies, on June 2, and Graduation, June 9, climaxed four years of harmony and hard work.

As a springtime mood prevails, Senior girls "horse around."

Bob Novak and Joy Levin add finishing touches to the Senior Class Disney character, Winnie the Pooh, on Homecoming eve.

The Junior Class was rewarded for many hours of hard work as their float, "Dumbfound the Gladiators," took a first place ribbon for class float competition. Linda Vargo represented the Juniors as their attendant in the Homecoming celebrations.

"Don't Drink the Water," the class play, was a sophisticated comedy about an American Embassy in Europe.

In preparation for the upcoming prom, the Junior Class sponsored two dances. The first dance was held in August. Their refreshments and decorations carried through the theme "Signs of the Zodiac." The second class dance was held during the annual Food Fair.

The Prom was held at the Sherwood Country Club, with an after-prom party at K. of C. Hall in East Chicago, Indiana.

Solving problems and formulating equations exercise the minds of math students.

As president of the Sophomore Class, Rich Guiden took on the responsibility of 282 students. The initial class project of the year was their Homecoming float, with Donald Duck as their Disney character. The theme was entitled, "Quack 'Em Up." To represent the Sophomores, Mary Jo Buksar was chosen as the attendant.

Class unity and strong desire brought about a successful candy sale at the beginning of the year. After choosing from a variety of styles and colors, class rings were received in December.

Sponsors of the Class of '73, Mrs. Skelton and Mr. Kostopoulos, exemplified their pride in the class throughout the year by assisting class officers and members.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS AND SPONSOR—J. Gaylor, treas., Mr. Mauger, sponsor, G. Francis, pres., M. Mierwa, v. pres., D. Babinec, sec.

The Freshman Class of 285 students quickly became acquainted with high school life by participating in Homecoming festivities. Much toil and initiative was displayed in their class float "By Jiminy, Let's Bug 'Em!" Ruth Martinez was chosen to represent the Class of '74 in the Queen's Court.

This year's Freshman Class Dance entitled "The Night of Love and Peace" exposed class organization abilities and served as the initial money-making project of the year.

The Freshman sponsors, Mr. Mauger and Miss Mazur, assisted class officers Greg Francis, Mary Mierwa, Rich Guiden and Diane Babinec in carrying out class projects.

Strike halts administrative authority

The indecision in previous years as to the future of Clark was finally settled when the School Board, under the direction of Superintendent Robert Medcalf, decided to make an addition with plans for eventually renovating the main building. The $1.5 million plans were completed in late winter and provided for a gym, three shops, and choral, orchestra, band, health, team teaching, and practice rooms.

The beginning of school in September was delayed ten days by a teachers' strike. The teachers demanded better salaries and working conditions from a tight budget, but a compromise was reached and the strike was settled by negotiation.

Mr. Lockey set an example for all students with his spirit enthusiasm, and friendliness while serving as both principal and pioneer.

Assuming his second year position as superintendent, Dr. Robert L. Medcalf was confronted with the teachers' strike.

Bridging the generation gap, students and teachers worked together to get back to school.

A pat on the back is an integral part of Mr. Lockey's true Pioneer spirit.

MRS. MARY MERRITT . . . B.S., Goshen College; M.S., Purdue University . . . Guidance Counselor . . . first year at Clark.

A smiling face and willingness to help others is always displayed by Mrs. Shirley Allen.

MR. DAVID TALABAY . . . B.A., Indiana University . . . Dean of Students . . . Junior Class Sponsor . . . fourth year at Clark.

MR. JOSEPH ESTERHAY . . . B.S., Ball State University; M.S., Indiana University . . . Assistant Principal . . . fourth year at Clark.

Unhappy students confront counselors

MR. FORREST WELCH . . . B.A., Upper Iowa University; M.E.D., DePaul University . . . Guidance Counselor . . . second year at Clark.

After much discussion the dress code was released by the new Dean of Students, Mr. Talabay. A sense of comfort pervaded the school as students were allowed to wear anything that was in good taste.

The Guidance Department, headed by Mr. Corder, sought to help students with their problems, make satisfying schedules, and help plan for the future. Mr. Welch directed the seniors through their last year while Miss Meyers and Mrs. Merritt combined to take care of the freshmen, along with their regular loads of juniors and sophomores.

Last year's policy of early dismissal of seniors was revised to include all grades. Any student with parental consent was allowed to eliminate useless study halls by late homeroom or early dismissal.

MR. ARNOLD CORDER . . . B.S., M.S., Indiana State University . . . Supervisor of Guidance . . . National Honor Society Sponsor . . . first year back at Clark.

MISS DORIS MEYERS . . . B.S., M.S., Indiana State University . . . Guidance Counselor . . . eleventh year at Clark.

Personnel serve distressed Clarkites

Office ladies were a source of information for incoming Freshmen, as well as many upperclassmen who lost articles, combinations, or even schedules and occasionally their "cool."

Mrs. Eynon, first year nurse at Clark, was initiated into Clark life by being responsible for giving eye and ear tests to sophomores, as well as taking care of everyday sicknesses.

Cafeteria ladies made nutritious meals for Clarkites using the government surplus program, while a new system, buying only a part of the lunch, came into effect.

Janitors and janitresses were found working late at night, cleaning up for the next day's classes.

OFFICE LADIES—Laura Carlson, Juanita Wagner, Linda Muscarella.

After a hectic morning of preparing lunch, the cafeteria ladies hurriedly clean-up.

In contrast to the veryday routine of sweeping floors, janitors are responsible for the upkeep of school grounds also.

MRS. BARBARA DOBAK . . . BED., Keene University; MED., Purdue University . . . Librarian . . . Library Club Sponsor . . . third year at Clark.

MR. LAWRENCE THWING . . . B.A., Purdue University . . . Librarian . . . Booster Club Sponsor . . . first year at Clark.

Seniors typify Clark students as they hesitantly choose their sandwiches for lunch.

MRS. VICTORIA EYNON . . . B.S., Loyola University . . . School Nurse . . . Health Club, Baton Sponsor . . . first year at Clark.

Deadlines met; editors say 'thanks'

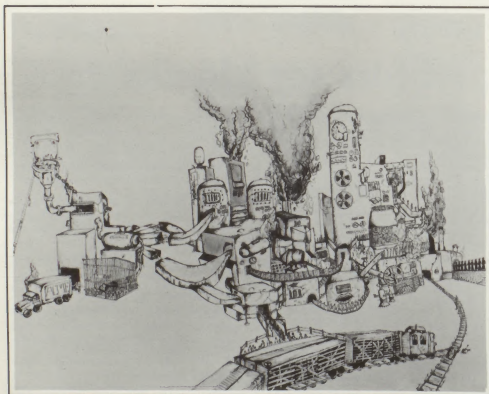

There are many thanks to be said to many people: to Mr. George Muir, who braved with us through thick and thin, to our photographers and Mr. Arthur Erickson, who were always around to comply with our last minute requests, and last, but far from least, the members of our staff.

The challenge of working on the Powder Horn as a newcomer brought out qualities of responsibility in some, a lack of concern in others. Giving up Saturdays and after school hours to work on the Powder Horn was like giving up a part of existence—a part that took an unflinching devotion to give up. This devotion evolved from a passion to make this yearbook better than any other yearbook; a yearbook that reflects a pride felt in 1971. Thanks.

It happened not only at G.R.C., but all over the world.
Vietnam crisis, Apollo XIV,
William Calley Trial, Women's Lib, drug problems, Frazier-Ali fight,
the education dilemma,
new medical breakthroughs,
18 year old vote, conservation.
How will another generation record our responses?

. . . we end our year with pride.
